BURTON CLAIMS GERRYMANDER IS OUTRAGEOUS AND UNFAIR

WOULD EXERCISE THE REFERENDUM

Senator Burton Says Ohio Gerrymander Is Unfair.

ISSUES A SHORT STATEMENT

Declares That Under the Fulton Bill Democrats Are Bound to Get Majority of Congressional Representatives Notwithstanding Adverse Vote in State at Large — Boundary Manipulation One of the Charges.

Washington, April 28.—Theodore E. Burton, the Republican senator from Ohio, declares that the Fulton act passed by the Ohio legislature, dividing the state into congressional districts, is an "outrageous gerrymander." Mr. Burton issued a statement saying:

"On the basis of the congressional vote in 1908, when Mr. Taft was given 53,000 plurality in the state, the act would give the Democrats 12 or more of the 22 Representatives from Ohio. Nothing could be more subversive of fairness and political honesty or of the very fundamental principles of representative government. If such gerrymanders should be generally adopted the result would be that, notwithstanding the Republican party might have a majority in all the leading states, the house of representatives would belong to the Democrats. "If there is any measure at the recent session of the legislature which calls for the exercise of the referendum, it is this redistricting bill. Strangely, the only complaint which has seemed to have been made comes from Democratic representatives in the national house of representatives. They allege that they have been unjustly treated. No doubt some of them have a grievance, but the most substantial wrong is that which is sought to be perpetrated upon the Republicans of Ohio and still more on the fundamental principles of our representative government."

Among the grievances which Senator Burton brings against the bill is that Republican counties are skillfully grouped; that there is an arbitrary manipulation of the boundaries so Democrats may be chosen notwithstanding an adverse majority, and that there is an utterly unfair division of the population. The cry that Republicans have gerrymandered the state in the past is no excuse at all, he says.

NEW AMBASSADOR IS DEMOCRATIC

Sir Cecil Spring-Rice Arrives in New York.

New York, April 28.—Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the new British ambassador to Washington, won the good will of a shipload of Americans who arrived with him by the Cunarder Campania from Liverpool. Sir Cecil is not a big man physically, but the impression of his fellow voyagers is that his intellectual height is unequalled by any other man in the diplomatic service and his democracy is unimpeachable.

The ambassador found waiting for him at the pier Courtenay Walter Bennett, British consul general at this port, and members of the British embassy at Washington.

Sir Cecil was unwilling to talk about anything bordering on politics or statesmanship. He said he was a diplomat and not a statesman; he paid tribute to the genius of the retiring ambassador, Mr. Bryce, and said he was not unfamiliar with Washington, as he had been many years ago secretary to the British embassy there. Sir Cecil is 54 years of age, but looks younger. He acted as best man at the second marriage of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt in 1886. He goes to Washington tomorrow.

Ohio Socialist Convention Turns Down Political Actionists.

Columbus, O., April 28.—Socialist "Reds" or direct actionists swept the Socialist state convention. The political actionists, or "Yellowbacks," as they saw their power slipping, loudly accused the other faction of railroad ing measures through.

A distinct victory for the direct actionists was the adoption of a resolution that the state executive committee now being voted into office by the unexpired term of the committee recalled last winter for its disavowal of principles be allowed to hold over for another year. The resolution will be acted on by referendum. To have a new ticket in readiness in case the resolution is defeated, about 35 nominations were made for membership in the committee.

The following were nominated for state secretary: J. W. Schaefer, Columbus, the present incumbent; C. O. Ruehm, Mt. Vernon; Joseph Van Schoyck, Columbus; Harry Spears, Hamilton; Edgar Wood, Columbus; E. R. Essler, Crestline; L. A. Zitt, Cincinnati; E. L. Hutchins, Norwood; and F. G. Williams, Akron. They will be voted on by referendum.

To the proposed municipal program were added the following provisions: The eight-hour working day; direct employment of labor by municipalities and the elimination of the contract system; a public department of indigent persons; abolition of the free system in mayor and police courts; and the establishment of the free textbook system.

A resolution also was adopted urging that Congress, under the public welfare clauses of the constitution, make emergency loans through the postal savings banks to persons who suffered heavily in recent floods.

THE revolutionists of Portugal did not catch King Manuel, but Dan Cupid did. Now the ex-king is engaged to Princess Augustina Victoria of Hohenzollern, a distant relative of the Kaiser. Just after the announcement a lively controversy started in Berlin on the question whether the princess is to be called queen. Some of the German experts on court questions declare that she will rank only as a duchess, with the title of royal highness, while others assert that as Manuel has not recognized his deposition from the throne of Portugal and retains the titles of king and majesty his consort will share this courtesy title. Many are inclined to the belief that the latter view is probably correct. Ex-King Manuel visited his aunt, Duchess Karl Theodora of Bavaria, in 1912 and at that time met Princess Augustina Victoria. Manuel is shown walking with Countess of Dudley while visiting in England.

Columbus, O., April 28.—The Ohio General assembly reconvened today after its 10-day recess and each house immediately got down to work.

The members voted most of the unfinished business into the hands of conference committees and went home expecting to return today and vote "aye" on the conference reports and go home again. But the conferees, even where they have agreed on a report, have not agreed on one which both houses are willing to accept.

It is thought the assembly will not come to final adjournment until Wednesday. Many important measures await final action.

President Wilson Stands Pat On Free Wool and the Sugar Schedule as Framed—Cattle and Flour Likely To Be Placed On Free List — Banking and Currency Revision Probable at This Session.

Washington, April 28.—Democratic leaders are now pretty confident that the Underwood tariff bill will become a law on or about July 1. They base their belief upon the expedition with which the measure is being handled in the house and information that the bill will be put through the senate in record time.

Accordingly the leaders have about reached the conclusion that an opportunity will be afforded at this session to revise the banking and currency laws. It is the president's wish that there shall be legislation of the kind at this time. Present indications are that the Underwood bill will be passed by the house next Saturday.

With the senate leaders working in close cooperation with the president, the belief is quite general that if the house disposes of the bill Saturday the measure will be in the hands of President Wilson by July 1, or a few days later.

General debate on the Underwood bill will be concluded in the house tonight. The measure was taken up under the five-minute rule today.

On two propositions at least the president will not consent to changes in the bill. He will stand pat on free raw wool and the section that provides for a gradual reduction on sugar for a period of three years, at the expiration of which time the product is to be admitted free. Other changes that have been made are in line with views originally expressed on the subject by Mr. Wilson. For example, there is a sentiment in the house that with meats on the free list the 10 percent rate on cattle should be removed. There also is strong sentiment favorable to the free admission of wheat and the elimination of the reciprocal provision on flour, making that product duty free, in fact.

If the agricultural schedule is attacked, as indicated, there is bound to be a merry time in the house and senate. As the spokesman of the agricultural west, Representative Hammond of Minnesota, who is a member of the ways and means committee, succeeded in having many of the products of the farm retained on the dutiable list.

EARLY MORNING FIRE DESTROYS WATERLOO HOTEL AND RESIDENCE

Village on Banks of Deer Creek Suffers Severe Blow Sunday Morning--Flames Leave Ugly Scar When Scott Hotel and Skinner Home Are Completely Destroyed.

Between the hours of two and three o'clock Sunday morning, Waterloo, or Pancoastburg, in southern Madison township, suffered a serious conflagration which wiped out the only hotel in the village, and destroyed the residence of Mrs. Sarah Skinner. A ready response on the part of the citizens of the village, prevented a further spread of the flames.

The fire started in the hotel, which was owned by Will G. Scott, and had gained considerable headway before it was discovered. When the discovery was made the alarm was quickly spread, and the occupants of the hotel and the Skinner homestead made haste in leaving the threatened buildings, and some of the fixtures of the buildings were removed.

As both buildings were of frame construction they were quickly reduced to ashes, notwithstanding the heroic efforts of the citizens to save them. As all surrounding structures were thoroughly saturated by the rainfall of a few hours previous, and there was no wind blowing, the flames were confined entirely to the two structures.

It is the first fire suffered by the village for a number of years, and the loss of the hotel will be keenly felt by parties who have been in the habit of spending time at Grubill's park at Waterloo, and seeking entertainment at the hotel. The loss to Mrs. Skinner is a heavy one. She has been living alone in the house, and is an elderly woman. The loss has been a severe shock to her.

For many years the hotel, which contained eight or ten rooms, has been a popular place among outing parties, and was familiarly known as the Maddux House, although in recent years has been owned by Mr. Will Scott.

While some insurance was carried on the buildings, the loss is by no means covered. No plans of rebuilding have been made.

It is believed the fire started by a glowing ember popping from a stove.

Protests Against Road Scraping

No end of inconvenience has been caused citizens in some parts of the county where the road scraper has been used within the past week or two, and where the sod from the edge of the road has been scraped into the center of the pike, forming a string of mud from two inches to a half foot in thickness, and making traffic very tedious and unpleasant during the recent rains.

In most of the townships where the road scraper has been used, it is claimed that the sod was turned outward instead of inward, allowing the water to flow readily from the road, and eliminating the "trough" and a mass of mud in the highway.

Persons living in the districts where the roads have been in such deplorable condition as a result of the scraping of soil into the center, are expressing their opinion freely on the method of improving the pikes taking the stand that the earth thrown off in dust, or during wet weather, converts the highway into a genuine mud road.

Anniversary Founding Of Odd Fellow Lodge Celebrated Yesterday

Large Number of Odd Fellows, Rebekahs and Friends Hear Special Address By Rev. Ross at Grace M. E. Church Sunday Afternoon, in Commemoration of Ninety-fourth Anniversary of the Order.

Impressive services were held at Grace church Sunday afternoon, in honor of the 94th anniversary of Odd Fellowship. Two hundred and fifty Odd Fellows, the officers in full regalia, and the entire body wearing the badge of the order, marched from the I. O. O. F. temple to the church. Accompanying them were the women of the Imperial Order of Rebekah. The entire body of the church was reserved for the honored fraternal order, although there was a large outside attendance.

The services throughout were as beautiful as they were in keeping with the occasion.

A special quartet, Dr. L. P. Howell, Messrs. Hicks, Burch and Ireland, sang "The Wayside Cross" and Dr. Howell and Mr. L. Bowman gave the interpretation to "Lead Kindly Light." Miss Mabel Calvert was the organist.

Rev. Frederick E. Ross delivered a masterly sermon, taking as his subject, "The Evolution of Brotherhood." Upon the wonderful words, "Our Father," the minister based the essence of all true religion, and the germ of all advancement. These simple words bring out the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man, and the ideal of this relationship has been striving through the ages for its realization. Touching upon the development of this ideal after the first three centuries, Rev. Ross carried its progress through the age of Constantine and the Roman empire down to the Reformation, which led to a re-discovery of man. It was during the Reformation that man began to think for himself, worship God as he saw fit and govern his own political affairs. It was from then that the evolution of brotherhood developed. It cost a constant struggle, but men won the right to think, to worship and to govern as they thought right.

Today man is engaged in an even greater struggle, to obtain recognition as a man.

The speaker discussed briefly the great evils of the present day social system and recognized wrongs. The encouraging part of the dark side is that withal these evils the ideals of Jesus Christ are constantly increasing.

In this line Rev. Ross pointed to the growth of the great fraternities, among which Odd Fellowship is in the first rank. Very beautifully the

SEEKS TO SOLVE FLOOD PROBLEMS

President Pledges His Aid to Drainage Congress.

NO APPROPRIATION IS MADE

Deemed Better by Authorities to Concentrate Forces For One Comprehensive Country Wide Project--National Department of Public Works Under Cabinet Member Is Advocated.

St. Louis--The reading of a telegram from Washington pledging the Wilson administration to investigation toward the solution of flood, drainage and river navigation problems, the adoption of resolutions urging the creation of a national department of public works under a cabinet member, the defeat of a resolution urging a congressional appropriation for the flood prevention plans of the Mississippi river commission--these events marked the closing session of the national drainage congress here.

In addition the drainage congress adopted resolutions providing for the establishment of a malaria section of the drainage congress and urging the southern states to appoint commissions that will co-operate with the United States public health service in stamping out malaria.

The message from Washington outlining the attitude of the administration was addressed to David R. Francis, retiring president of the drainage congress. The message follows:

Secretary Tumulty authorized the following as being substantially an expression of the president's opinion at this time:

"That the president hopes to see and will strive to bring about substantial progress during his administration toward solving of flood, drainage, river navigation and other such problems; that if the national drainage congress concludes creation of a special department of the government will assist solution he will give earnest consideration to question; that suggestion appears to offer a practical way of co-ordination and of improving the government's facilities for grappling these questions, but that he hesitates to commit himself until he has studied the subject more fully as to method--in short, the president has an 'open mind.' The same suggestions have been made during and considered under the two preceding administrations. The situation simply is that the president would prefer to investigate records and consult his advisers before advocating so sweeping a change. Secretary Garrison is now preparing a report on the ways and means of coping with floods. This may have a bearing on the president's course.

The resolution urging a congressional appropriation to carry out the plans of the Mississippi river commission was presented by R. B. Oliver of Cape Girardeau, Mo., and precipitated the only stirring debate that occurred during the entire session.

"Why talk of further investigations," said Mr. Oliver, "when the Mississippi river commission already has made an investigation and eminent engineers have announced that its plans for flood control are feasible? It is little short of murder for this congress to go on record as failing to indorse the plan of the commission when along the lower Mississippi today people are being driven from their homes and separated from their friends by floods that they cannot control and that originated in regions north of them.

Mr. Oliver's speech brought forth several replies, the speakers contending that the drainage congress should not center its attention on one project, that the matter had been discussed thoroughly in the resolutions committee and that it was the part of wisdom to present a united front for a department of public works which should take over all matters of flood control.

Body Found After Weeks of Search

Mrs. Joe Pratt has received word that the body of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Henry Hammerstein, lost in the flood waters of Columbus, has at last been discovered and given burial.

The Hammerstein home was on Sullivant avenue where the flood current was the swiftest. Burial was made this morning.

EARLY MORNING FIRE DESTROYS WATERLOO HOTEL AND RESIDENCE

Village on Banks of Deer Creek Suffers Severe Blow Sunday Morning--Flames Leave Ugly Scar When Scott Hotel and Skinner Home Are Completely Destroyed.

Between the hours of two and three o'clock Sunday morning, Waterloo, or Pancoastburg, in southern Madison township, suffered a serious conflagration which wiped out the only hotel in the village, and destroyed the residence of Mrs. Sarah Skinner. A ready response on the part of the citizens of the village, prevented a further spread of the flames.

The fire started in the hotel, which was owned by Will G. Scott, and had gained considerable headway before it was discovered. When the discovery was made the alarm was quickly spread, and the occupants of the hotel and the Skinner homestead made haste in leaving the threatened buildings, and some of the fixtures of the buildings were removed.

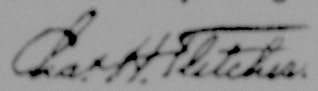

As both buildings were of frame construction they were quickly reduced to ashes, notwithstanding the heroic efforts of the citizens to save them. As all surrounding structures were thoroughly saturated by the rainfall of a few hours previous, and there was no wind blowing, the flames were confined entirely to the two structures.

It is the first fire suffered by the village for a number of years, and the loss of the hotel will be keenly felt by parties who have been in the habit of spending time at Grubill's park at Waterloo, and seeking entertainment at the hotel. The loss to Mrs. Skinner is a heavy one. She has been living alone in the house, and is an elderly woman. The loss has been a severe shock to her.

For many years the hotel, which contained eight or ten rooms, has been a popular place among outing parties, and was familiarly known as the Maddux House, although in recent years has been owned by Mr. Will Scott.

While some insurance was carried on the buildings, the loss is by no means covered. No plans of rebuilding have been made.

It is believed the fire started by a glowing ember popping from a stove.

Protests Against Road Scraping

No end of inconvenience has been caused citizens in some parts of the county where the road scraper has been used within the past week or two, and where the sod from the edge of the road has been scraped into the center of the pike, forming a string of mud from two inches to a half foot in thickness, and making traffic very tedious and unpleasant during the recent rains.

In most of the townships where the road scraper has been used, it is claimed that the sod was turned outward instead of inward, allowing the water to flow readily from the road, and eliminating the "trough" and a mass of mud in the highway.

Persons living in the districts where the roads have been in such deplorable condition as a result of the scraping of soil into the center, are expressing their opinion freely on the method of improving the pikes taking the stand that the earth thrown off in dust, or during wet weather, converts the highway into a genuine mud road.

Anniversary Founding Of Odd Fellow Lodge Celebrated Yesterday

Large Number of Odd Fellows, Rebekahs and Friends Hear Special Address By Rev. Ross at Grace M. E. Church Sunday Afternoon, in Commemoration of Ninety-fourth Anniversary of the Order.

Impressive services were held at Grace church Sunday afternoon, in honor of the 94th anniversary of Odd Fellowship. Two hundred and fifty Odd Fellows, the officers in full regalia, and the entire body wearing the badge of the order, marched from the I. O. O. F. temple to the church. Accompanying them were the women of the Imperial Order of Rebekah. The entire body of the church was reserved for the honored fraternal order, although there was a large outside attendance.

The services throughout were as beautiful as they were in keeping with the occasion.

A special quartet, Dr. L. P. Howell, Messrs. Hicks, Burch and Ireland, sang "The Wayside Cross" and Dr. Howell and Mr. L. Bowman gave the interpretation to "Lead Kindly Light." Miss Mabel Calvert was the organist.

Rev. Frederick E. Ross delivered a masterly sermon, taking as his subject, "The Evolution of Brotherhood." Upon the wonderful words, "Our Father," the minister based the essence of all true religion, and the germ of all advancement. These simple words bring out the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man, and the ideal of this relationship has been striving through the ages for its realization. Touching upon the development of this ideal after the first three centuries, Rev. Ross carried its progress through the age of Constantine and the Roman empire down to the Reformation, which led to a re-discovery of man. It was during the Reformation that man began to think for himself, worship God as he saw fit and govern his own political affairs. It was from then that the evolution of brotherhood developed. It cost a constant struggle, but men won the right to think, to worship and to govern as they thought right.

Today man is engaged in an even greater struggle, to obtain recognition as a man.

The speaker discussed briefly the great evils of the present day social system and recognized wrongs. The encouraging part of the dark side is that withal these evils the ideals of Jesus Christ are constantly increasing.

In this line Rev. Ross pointed to the growth of the great fraternities, among which Odd Fellowship is in the first rank. Very beautifully the minister spoke of the three links of friendship, love and truth, upon which the order is based. The evidences of evolution of the ideal of brotherhood is found not alone in the spread of the fraternity movement also in the growth of co-operation and democracy and in the movement for world peace.

In closing he cited recent disasters when calls went out for help and from all over the world came generous response. It is an indication of the growth of the fraternal spirit and a tribute to the Christ, the dynamic force of this whole upward movement.

SEEKS TO SOLVE FLOOD PROBLEMS

President Pledges His Aid to Drainage Congress.

NO APPROPRIATION IS MADE

Deemed Better by Authorities to Concentrate Forces For One Comprehensive Country Wide Project--National Department of Public Works Under Cabinet Member Is Advocated.

St. Louis--The reading of a telegram from Washington pledging the Wilson administration to investigation toward the solution of flood, drainage and river navigation problems, the adoption of resolutions urging the creation of a national department of public works under a cabinet member, the defeat of a resolution urging a congressional appropriation for the flood prevention plans of the Mississippi river commission--these events marked the closing session of the national drainage congress here.

In addition the drainage congress adopted resolutions providing for the establishment of a malaria section of the drainage congress and urging the southern states to appoint commissions that will co-operate with the United States public health service in stamping out malaria.

The message from Washington outlining the attitude of the administration was addressed to David R. Francis, retiring president of the drainage congress. The message follows:

Secretary Taft authorized the following as being substantially an expression of the president's opinion at this time:

That the present time is ripe to see and will strive to bring about substantial progress during his administration toward solving of flood, drainage, river navigation and other such problems; that if the national drainage congress concludes creation of a special department of the government will assist solution he will give earnest consideration to question; that suggestion appears to offer a practical way of coordination and of improving the government's facilities for grappling these questions; but that he hesitates to commit himself until he has studied the subject more fully as to method--in short, the president has an "open mind." The same suggestions have been made during and considered under the two preceding administrations. The situation simply is that the president would prefer to investigate records and consult his advisers before advocating so sweeping a change. Secretary Garrison is now preparing a report on the ways and means of coping with floods. This may have a bearing on the president's course.

The resolution urging a congressional appropriation to carry out the plans of the Mississippi river commission was presented by R. B. Oliver of Cape Girardeau, Mo., and precipitated the only stirring debate that occurred during the entire session.

"Why talk of further investigations," said Mr. Oliver, "when the Mississippi river commission already has made an investigation and eminent engineers have announced that its plans for flood control are feasible? From Jackson the party will return to Cincinnati, stopping at Chillicothe.

DEEPEST MYSTERY STILL SURROUNDS DEER CREEK FIND

Remains of Unknown Man Are Interred in Potter's Field at Madison Mills, With Not a Single Clue to His Identity Found--Murder Theory Is Strengthened By Condition of the Body.

Mystery still surrounds the badly decomposed body of a man found on the Williams Jones farm two miles north of Waterloo, Saturday, and the remains have been consigned to an unmarked grave in the Madison Mills cemetery.

Meanwhile the effort to establish the identity of the man is going forward, corners in the counties touched by the creek and its tributaries north of the spot where the remains were found, will be asked to assist in securing information concerning parties who have been missing.

Coroner Howell has not yet returned his verdict in the case, but believes that the man was either murdered or met his death while attempting to swim the swollen stream.

The fact that the body was nude, and that the skull had been crushed in over the right eye, and that the back part of the head was also crushed, aroused the suspicion of Coroner Howell that the man may have been murdered and his body cast into the creek to conceal the crime.

As far as could be ascertained the man was probably 40 years of age, weighed about 145 pounds, was five feet eight inches in height, had brown hair, which had been cut rather close and was coarse, and the backs of his hands were freckled.

His features were almost entirely obliterated, his nose having been crushed, and his upper jaw broken by the same blow which crushed the skull over his right eye.

In drifting down stream the legs of the corpse had become securely fastened in such a manner that both were fractured below the knee, where a heavy timber had evidently struck with crushing force. It is possible that the skull was crushed by the same timber.

Inquiry at Mt. Sterling elicited the information that no one was missing from that place, so that it is evident the corpse came from further up stream.

Monday morning Coroner Howell received a message from a Columbus woman who had read the account in one of the newspapers. She stated that her husband had disappeared a year ago, and she was anxious to ascertain if the remains were those of her husband.

The various chapters vied with each other in handsome entertaining, a round of banquets, dinners and receptions on an unusually elaborate scale being given.

Mr. Earl Morris, of Sabina, was a business visitor here Saturday.

Mrs. W. W. Hamilton returned the last of the week from a visit in Bellefontaine.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Murray, Mr. Ed Durdinger and father, Mr. Durdinger, of Yatesville, Col. B. H. Special Train Bearing Party From Chamber of Commerce Will Stop Here on Morning of May 21--Walter A. Draper, Former Washington Boy, Who Is President of Organization, Will Be in the Party.

Greenfield, Leesburg, New Vienna and Blanchester.

All arrangements had been made for the trip early in May, but the recent floods caused a postponement. The trip will enable Cincinnati business men to get a first hand idea of the effects of floods in Southern Ohio and the needs of the territory. Weber's band will accompany the party. On the excursion will be many of the famous "Cincinnati Boosters" of the Chamber of Commerce who have traveled many thousands of miles on various trips, having recently returned from a trip to the Panama canal.

Mr. Walter Draper, a former Washington boy who is now president of the Chamber of Commerce will be with the party, and a large delegation of business men will undoubtedly meet the party of visitors upon their arrival here.

It is the intention of the party to stay one hour here, during which time Weber's band will give an open air concert and brief talks will be made by a number of the men, including Mr. Draper. The train load of men representing millions of dollars of business interests of the Queen City desire to meet every business man in the city.

The hour of arrival and the program for the hour's stay here will be announced later.

A trade excursion through Southern Ohio is to be made by about one hundred members of the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce May 21, 22, and 23.

Leaving Cincinnati over the Pennsylvania in the morning of May 21, the special train carrying the Cincinnati party will make stops at Wilmington, this city, Circleville, Lancaster, Bremen, New Lexington arriving at Zanesville at 7:45 p. m. and spending the night there.

From Zanesville the party will go to Parkersburg, W. Va., over the B. & O., stopping at McConnelleville and Marietta. After leaving Parkersburg the train will proceed to Athens, Weston and Jackson, spending the second night at the latter city. From Jackson the party will return to Cincinnati, stopping at Chillicothe.

Don't Wait for the Wood to Show Before You Paint!

Postponing painting is like putting off payment of taxes. You are only piling up expense. The wise man paints often, so that there is always a protecting film of paint between his house and the elements. The more durable the paint, the less often this must be done.

The most durable paint in the world is

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Katz celebrated their fifteenth wedding anniversary Sunday night with one of the most elaborate banquets ever served at the Cherry hotel.

The long table was laid with 26 covers and beautifully decorated in banquet style, the color scheme pink and green. A wide center panel of smilax, studded with shell pink carnations, extended the length of the table and at each plate blazed small pink and green tapers in crystal candlesticks, afterwards presented as guest souvenirs, with other novel favors. The overhead lights were turned out as the guests entered the dining room, making doubly effective the burning candles, and the rose illumination which they shed.

The hotel management served a five course banquet including every spring delicacy, one course being roast goose, with all accessories. The service was faultless everything moving with the utmost smoothness to the windup of after-dinner coffee and bon-bons.

The occasion was altogether one of memorable pleasure and gaiety, the entire party showering their hospitable host and hostess with congratulations and entering into the convivial spirit of the hour.

Mr. Frank Horstman, Washington's noted pianist, played brilliantly after the banquet and nothing was left undone for the entertainment of the guests.

Seated with Mr. and Mrs. Katz were Mr. and Mrs. J. Frohman, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Wallenstein, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Bloom, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bamberger, Mrs. H. DEEPEST MYSTERY STILL SURROUNDS DEER CREEK FIND

Remains of Unknown Man Are Interred in Potter's Field at Madison Mills, With Not a Single Clue to His Identity Found--Murder Theory Is Strengthened By Condition of the Body.

Mystery still surrounds the badly decomposed body of a man found on the Willis Jones farm two miles north of Waterloo, Saturday, and the remains have been consigned to an unmarked grave in the Madison Mills territory.

Meanwhile the effort to establish the identity of the man is going forward, coroners in the counties touched by the creek and its tributaries north of the spot where the remains were found, will be asked to assist in securing information concerning parties who have been missing.

Coroner Howell has not yet returned his verdict in the case, but believes that the man was either murdered or met his death while attempting to swim the swollen stream.

The fact that the body was nude, and that the skull had been crushed in over the right eye, and that the

Let's Do It Right.

Unless the very laudable plans and purposes of local officials and many prominent and public spirited citizens go very much awry Washington is to have a very considerable amount of street paving done in the very near future.

This is a move in the right direction. The city can scarcely go too far in the matter of paving streets.

Experience here and elsewhere has demonstrated beyond cavil the wisdom of that method of improving streets.

Right now this coming season, every street in the city which terminates at the corporation line in a turnpike should be paved. The past half dozen years of annoyance and loss has proved the utter folly of the old gravel, sand and soft rock method. A street builded of such material will not stand the burden of travel which pours in from the pike directly upon it. And these streams of travel are not spasmodic—they are constant—seasons do not stop them, weather conditions and wretched streets do not and cannot turn back that stream which has been and is flowing to and from the city. These streams of travel are the business of the city and county—not those of pleasure seekers by any manner of means.

But all that aside. Few indeed are the people in Washington who fail to realize to the full not only the wisdom but the positive necessity of keeping up in passable condition the streets over which passes and repasses, day by day, in season and out, all the whole year round, in an ever increasing volume those vehicles of commerce which make the city and the county what it is.

The need of paved streets being now pretty generally conceded the next thing in order is to see to it that such necessary enforceable rules and ordinances are laid down and enacted as will make impossible the destruction of these durable thoroughfares as soon almost as we have begun to enjoy them and to profit by them.

All property owners along the line of each street to be paved—to be permanently improved—should be notified in ample time to permit them to carry to their property lines not only the gas and water mains which they require at present, but to provide for future needs.

These property line extensions of mains can be "dead headed" and remain available for use whenever the occasion requires.

All property owners who refuse to avail themselves of the opportunity to provide for future needs should be denied the privileges of cutting a new brick street into seams, gulleys and holes whenever it please their fancy or convenience to do so.

The water company, and the gas company should be placed under strict order of law to prevent them from mutilating the new streets.

Those companies should be required to see to it that under the new streets before the brick is laid down, their mains are so buried and constructing of such material that for years to come there will be scarcely anything short of the impossible, which will make it necessary to disinter the mains.

The necessary rules and ordinances should be passed by the law making power of the city before the permanent improvements are begun and the prohibitory provisions of those ordinances should carry a punch, in the way of punishment for violations, of sufficient force to guarantee their obedience.

Under actual notice of the enactment of such ordinances, owners of property abutting on improved streets might possibly, within the next decade, be able to present evidence of the existence of such an unusual set of circumstances that permission to dig into the streets might be granted, but it would and should require a stronger showing than the erection of a new house. That contingency could be provided against by the use of just a little caution.

The gas company or the water company, might possibly have a main burst under a new street, but it is not likely if the mains are properly laid and the proper pipes used.

Much expense, much annoyance and destruction of public property, which amounts almost to vandalism can be prevented by just a little bit of precautionary legislation preceding the much needed work of improvement.

Destiny of America Wrapped Up In That of England

By FRANCIS GRIERSON, Essayist and Critic

THE DESTINY OF AMERICA IS WRAPPED UP IN THAT OF ENGLAND. ON THE DAY THAT ENGLAND SINKS TO A SECOND CLASS POWER IN EUROPE A EUROPEAN COALITION WILL DEVELOP WHICH WILL HAVE FOR ITS PRIME OBJECT THE PARTITION OF MEXICO, CENTRAL AMERICA AND THE STATES OF SOUTH AMERICA. ON THAT DAY AMERICA'S TROUBLE WILL BEGIN.

At first blush Americans will be inclined to shake their heads at this conclusion and even to resent it a little, but on second thought it is CAUSE FOR MOST SERIOUS REFLECTION.

When we have given any thought to the matter we have felt that England's power is not in any great danger of SHRINKING. But in the evolution of empires and under the cruel touch of time ALL THINGS ARE POSSIBLE.

Poetry For Today

NEVER MIND.

Whatever your work and whatever its worth.

No matter how strong or clever, Some one will sneer if you pause to hear.

And scoff at your best endeavor.

For the target art has a broad expanse,

And wherever you chance to hit it.

Though close be your aim to the bull's-eye fame.

There are those who will never admit it.

Though the house applauds while the artist plays,

And a smiling world adores him, Somebody is there with an envious air

To say that the acting bores him.

For the tower of art has a lofty spire,

With many a stair and landing,

And those who climb seem small off-time

To one at the bottom standing.

So work in your chosen niche,

With a steady purpose to nerve you;

Let nothing men say who pass your way

Relax your courage or swerve you.

The idle will flock by the Temple of Art

For just the pleasure of gazing;

But climb to the top and do not stop,

Though they may not all be praising.

A GOOD PRESCRIPTION.

For a Long Life.

This is the prescription for a long life given by an old gentleman in Connecticut, who is 99 years old and still well and cheerful: "Live temperately, be slow to anger, don't worry, take plenty of exercise in the fresh air, and above all keep cheerful."

Should the system get run down—digestive organs weak—the blood thin and sluggish take Vinol, which is a delicious combination of the medicinal—body-building properties of cod's livers, with the useless grease eliminated and tonic iron added. We regard Vinol as one of the greatest body-builders and strength creators in the world for aged people.

Mrs. Mary Ivey, of Columbus, Ga., says: "If people only knew the good Vinol does old people you would be unable to supply the demand; it is the finest tonic and strength creator I ever used."

We wish every feeble old person in this vicinity would try Vinol on our agreement to return their money if it fails to give satisfaction. Blackmer & Tanquary, Druggists, Washington C. H., Ohio.

INTERESTING BITS OF NEWS

(By John E. M. Kerr.)

A small board, bearing a pathetic message scratched in the wood, as though with a point of a nail, and signed "John J. Astor," was brought to port of Boston by the captain of a British tramp seacarer. This message is, so far as known the very last farewell from the wreck of the White Star liner Titanic. The captain picked this board from the ocean as his vessel was ploughing her way through the waters about the latitude and longitude where the Titanic sank. As soon as he arrived in Boston, Captain Willis, of the tramp, wired Mrs. Madeline Force Astor, informing her of the message from the grave and that he would save the message for her eyes alone.

But few people probably realize the tidy sum which Harvard university receives annually from its general investments. In 1912 the investment account stood at $18,631,588. The gross income from this investment in bonds and mortgages was $797,636 in 1912 and is equal to a net return of 4.27 per cent for the year.

Seven bids have been sent to the United States Treasury department at Washington on Kenton property for a site for the proposed new federal building for that city. An item of $80,000 was carried in the appropriation bill in Congress for a building and site. The local bids range from $4000 the lowest, to $13,500 the highest.

The Waverly Watchman tells of a forest fire of gigantic proportions, that raged in Pike county last week when many farms lost heavily in timber and fences. The pall of smoke hung in the sky in an immense cloud. The entire population were kept busy all day long fighting the flames to save property endangered.

The authorities at Crewe, in England, have decided that the forthcoming visit of the king and queen, the ladies of the town will not be allowed to be present at the ceremonies. The fear that some suffragists might in some way obtain access and do an outrage has occasioned the cancelling of the arrangements as far as the ladies are concerned.

Public school music is made the leading topic of discussion on the program of the National Federation of Musical clubs held this week at Chicago. The club urges that steps be taken to ask that the government bar from the mails songs having objectionable words. The establishment of a national board of musical censorship similar to the board now in existence for approving moving picture shows is also urged.

Cheers accompanied the yacht Pennsylvania down the Delaware the other day as she started on one of the most adventurous of modern voyages. Explorations of the Arctic regions has now and again been challenged as waste but no such questioning can attend the enterprise which sends an expedition to penetrate into the "lost world" of the Upper Amazon a region of unknown though undoubted wealth and of the greatest geographical interest. The U. of P. is behind the latest venture which is planned to cover some 30,000 miles of jungles and forests not yet explored by white men.

At last one of the fondest hopes of the people of Panama is to be realized, namely the building of a dock for the landing of passengers and baggage in the city of Panama at a cost of not less than $50,000 American money.

As it is now, passengers are carried to steamers in small boats paying according to the distance, often as much as $1 U. S. currency for one passenger and a very small trunk. All freight is unloaded in lighters, there being no pier at present of any kind in Panama bay, although there is a makeshift government wharf. The new pier is to be 500 meters in length and equip with every modern facility for both freight and passengers. The travelers will be charged a toll of 25 and 10 cents for baggage.

A GLIMPSE BACK THROUGH YEARS

(John E. M. Kerr.)

August 19, 1869.

We attended the railroad meeting held in Washington last week and on arriving were met by Mr. Jas. Purcell, the collector of this district, who conducted us to the hotel. Here we found Col. Yeoman, Hon. Mills Gardner, C. A. Palmer, Esq., and quite a number of live men. After dinner Mr. Purcell invited us to take a ride in the country and see some of the beauties of Fayette. After driving some 15 miles we returned by way of Bloomingburg. This place is some 5 miles from Washington and is noted for its fine academy located there. Our conclusions of Fayette are about these: Although one of the smallest counties in the state, she has some of the largest and best farms, an enterprising people and eventually will be one of the richest counties in Ohio. The farmers know the value of good roads and turnpikes lead into every direction. By these means Washington can command a trade that but few towns of double the size can command. It looks like business in Washington and is business. One firm alone, that of Ely and Stimson do a business of over $250,000 a year. They have a wholesale and retail trade in groceries, hardware, etc. There are some 3 or 4 other houses of the same kind in the place. It is the same way in dry goods and every branch of business. There are quite a large number of brick buildings that would be a credit to any place. The Masonic hall is one of the prettiest rooms of the kind we were ever in, and there is a concert hall in the same building, seated with chairs, that will hold over 600. The population is about 3000 and we don't think there is a more active, enterprising, pushing, intelligent people in the state. There are 2 newspapers, The Herald, Republican, and the Register, Democratic. The former is presided over by Mr. Millikan, one of the oldest newspaper men in the state and who knows how to get up a readable paper. The latter is conducted with much ability by Mr. Gould who keeps the interests of his party always uppermost. Altogether she has innumerable turnpikes and one railroad and is still reaching out for more. May she succeed. There is much other we would like to speak of such as the schools, churches, infirmaries, fair grounds, etc., but our limits will not permit.—Ripley Bee.

Under actual notice of the enactment of such ordinances, owners of property abutting on improved streets might possibly, within the next decade, be able to present evidence of the existence of such an unusual set of circumstances that permission to dig into the streets might be granted, but it would and should require a stronger showing than the erection of a new house. That contingency could be provided against by the use of just a little caution.

The gas company or the water company, might possibly have a main burst under a new street, but it is not likely if the mains are properly laid and the proper pipes used.

Much expense, much annoyance and destruction of public property, which amounts almost to vandalism can be prevented by just a little bit of precautionary legislation preceding the much needed work of improvement.

Destiny of America Wrapped Up In That of England

By FRANCIS GRIERSON, Essayist and Critic

THE DESTINY OF AMERICA IS WRAPPED UP IN THAT OF ENGLAND. ON THE DAY THAT ENGLAND SINKS TO A SECOND CLASS POWER IN EUROPE A EUROPEAN COALITION WILL DEVELOP WHICH WILL HAVE FOR ITS PRIME OBJECT THE PARTITION OF MEXICO, CENTRAL AMERICA AND THE STATES OF SOUTH AMERICA. ON THAT DAY AMERICA'S TROUBLE WILL BEGIN.

At first blush Americans will be inclined to shake their heads at this conclusion and even to resent it a little, but on second thought it is CAUSE FOR MOST SERIOUS REFLECTION.

When we have given any thought to the matter we have felt that England's power is not in any great danger of SHRINKING. But in the evolution of empires and under the cruel touch of time ALL THINGS ARE POSSIBLE.

Poetry For Today

NEVER MIND.

Whatever your work and whatever its worth
No matter how strong or clever,
Some one will sneer if you pause to hear,
And scoff at your best endeavor.
For the target art has a broad expanse,
And wherever you chance to hit it,
Though close be your aim to the bull's-eye fame,
There are those who will never admit it.

Though the house applauds while the artist plays,
And a smiling world adores him,
Somebody is there with an ennuied air
To say that the acting bores him.
For the tower of art has a lofty spire,
With many a stair and landing,
And those who climb seem small off-time
To one at the bottom standing.

So work in your chosen niche,
With a steady purpose to nerve you;
Let nothing men say who pass your way
Relax your courage or swerve you.
The idle will flock by the Temple of Art
For just the pleasure of gazing;
But climb to the top and do not stop,
Though they may not all be praising.

—Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

A GOOD PRESCRIPTION.

For a Long Life.

This is the prescription for a long life given by an old gentleman in Connecticut, who is 92 years old and still well and cheerful. "Live temperately, be slow to anger, don't worry, take plenty of exercise in the fresh air, and above all keep cheerful."

Should the system get run down—digestive organs weak, the blood thin and sluggish take Vinol, which is a delicious combination of the medicinal—body-building properties of cod's livers, with the useless grease eliminated and tonic iron added. We regard Vinol as one of the greatest body-builders and strength creators in the world for aged people.

Mrs. Mary Ivey, of Columbus, Ga., says: "If people only knew the good Vinol does old people you would be unable to supply the demand; it is the finest tonic and strength creator I ever used."

We wish every feeble old person in this vicinity would try Vinol on our agreement to return their money if it fails to give satisfaction. Blackmer & Tanqueray, Druggists, Washington C. H., Ohio.

INTERESTING BITS OF NEWS

(By John E. M. Kerr.)

A small board, bearing a pathetic message scratched in the wood, as though with a point of a nail, and signed "John J. Astor," was brought to port of Boston by the captain of a British tramp seacarer. This message is, so far as known the very last farewell from the wreck of the White Star liner Titanic. The captain picked this board from the ocean as his vessel was ploughing her way through the waters about the latitude and longitude where the Titanic sank. As soon as he arrived in Boston, Captain Willis, of the tramp, wired Mrs. Madeline Force Astor, informing her of the message from the grave and that he would save the message for her eyes alone.

But few people probably realize the tidy sum which Harvard university receives annually from its general investments. In 1912 the investment account stood at $18,631,588. The gross income from this investment in bonds and mortgages was $797,636 in 1912 and is equal to a net return of 4.27 per cent for the year.

Seven bids have been sent to the United States Treasury department at Washington on Kenton property for a site for the proposed new federal building for that city. An item of $80,000 was carried in the appropriation bill in Congress for a building and site. The local bids range from $1000 the lowest, to $13,500 the highest.

The Waverly Watchman tells of a forest fire of gigantic proportions, that raged in Pike county last week when many farms lost heavily in timber and fences. The pall of smoke hung in the sky in an immense cloud. The entire population were kept busy all day long fighting the flames to save property endangered.

The authorities at Crewe, in England, have decided that the forthcoming visit of the king and queen, the ladies of the town will not be allowed to be present at the ceremonies. The fear that some suffragists might in some way obtain access and do an outrage has occasioned the cancelling of the arrangements as far as the ladies are concerned.

Public school music is made the leading topic of discussion on the program of the National Federation of Musical clubs held this week at Chicago. The club urged that steps be taken to ask that the government bar from the mails songs having objectionable words. The establishment of a national board of musical censorship similar to the board now in existence for approving moving picture shows is also urged.

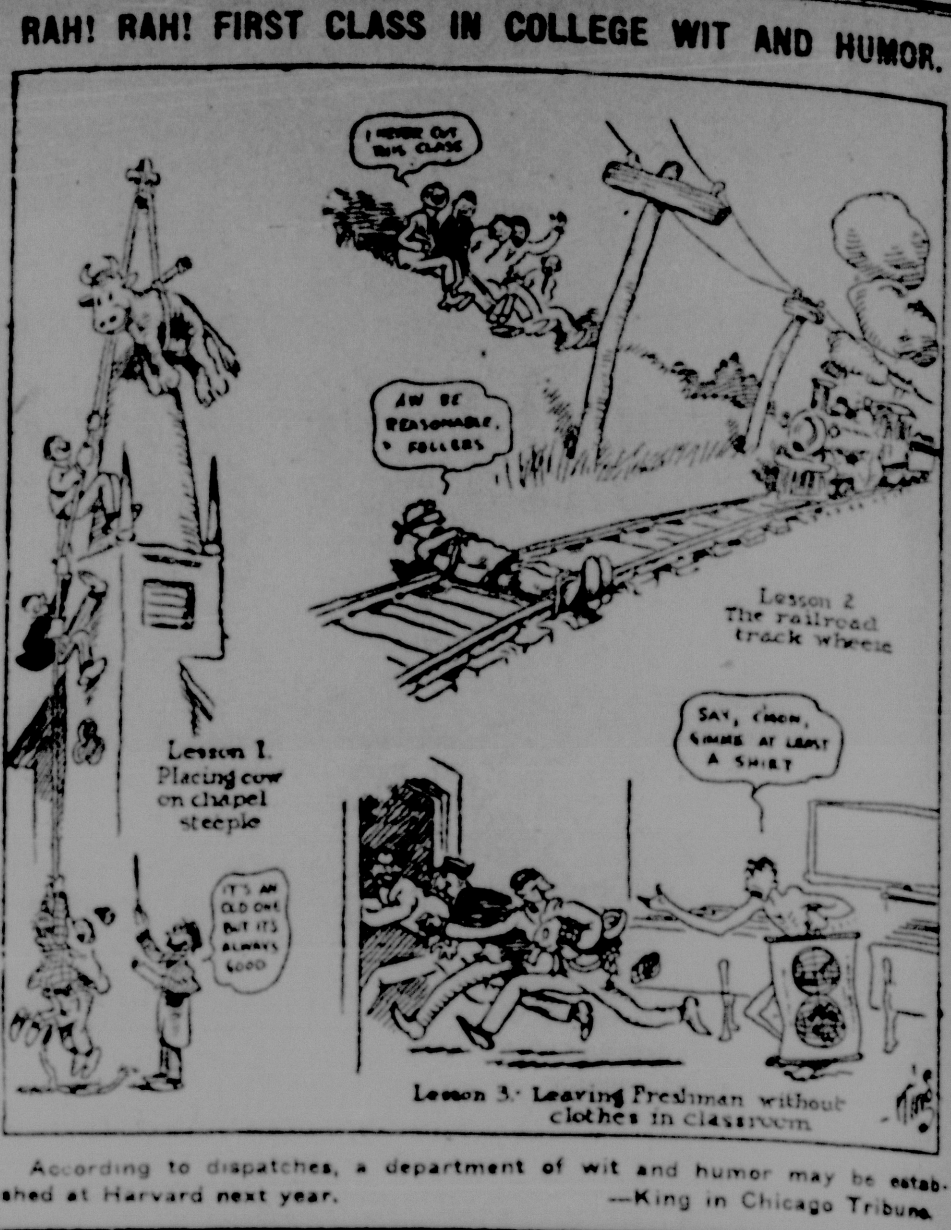

Cheers accompanied the yacht Pennsylvania down the Delaware the other day as she started on one of the most adventurous of modern voyages. Explorations of the Arctic regions has now and again been challenged as waste but no such questioning can attend the enterprise which sends an expedition to penetrate into the "lost world" of the Upper Amazon a region of unknown though undoubted wealth and of the greatest geographical interest. The U. of P. is behind the latest venture which is planned to cover some 20,000 miles of jungles and forests not yet explored by white men.

At last one of the fondest hopes of the people of Panama is to be realized, namely the building of a dock for the landing of passengers and baggage in the city of Panama at a cost of not less than $50,000 American money.

As it is now, passengers are carried to steamers in small boats paying according to the distance, often as much as $1 U. S. currency for one passenger and a very small trunk. All freight is unloaded in lighters, there being no pier at present of any kind in Panama bay, although there is a makeshift government wharf. The new pier is to be 500 meters in length and equip with every modern facility for both freight and passengers. The travelers will be charged a toll of 25 and 10 cents for baggage.

A GLIMPSE BACK THROUGH YEARS

(John E. M. Kerr.)

August 19, 1869.

We attended the railroad meeting held in Washington last week and on arriving were met by Mr. Jas. Purcell, the collector of this district, who conducted us to the hotel. Here we found Col. Yeoman, Hon. Mills Gardner, C. A. Palmer, Esq., and quite a number of live men. After dinner Mr. Purcell invited us to take a ride in the country and see some of the beauties of Fayette. After driving some 15 miles we returned by way of Bloomingburg. This place is some 5 miles from Washington and is noted for its fine academy located there. Our conclusions of Fayette are about these: Although one of the smallest counties in the state, she has some of the largest and best farms, an enterprising people and eventually will be one of the richest counties in Ohio. The farmers know the value of good roads and turnpikes lead into every direction. By these means Washington can command a trade that but few towns of double the size can command. It looks like business in Washington and is business. One firm alone, that of Ely and Stimson do a business of over $250,000 a year. They have a wholesale and retail trade in groceries, hardware, etc. There are some 3 or 4 other houses of the same kind in the place. It is the same way in dry goods and every branch of business. There are quite a large number of brick buildings that would be a credit to any place. The Masonic hall is one of the prettiest rooms of the kind we were ever in, and there is a concert hall in the same building, seated with chairs, that will hold over 600. The population is about 2000 and we don't think there is a more active, enterprising, pushing, intelligent people in the state. There are 2 newspapers, The Herald, Republican, and the Register, Democratic. The former is presided over by Mr. Millikan, one of the oldest newspaper men in the state and who knows how to get up a readable paper. The latter is conducted with much ability by Mr. Gould who keeps the interests of his party always uppermost. Altogether she has innumerable turnpikes and one railroad and is still reaching out for more. May she succeed. There is much other we would like to speak of such as the schools, churches, infirmary, fair grounds, etc., but our limits will not permit. —Ripley Bee.

For every DOLLAR in use in your locality another DOLLAR will come. Conversely, every DOLLAR that is sent away has a pulling power on another DOLLAR that is left behind.

Cruelty Alleged in Auburn Prison by Special Inquisitor.

Albany, N. Y., April 28.—"I have found in Auburn prison brutality, violation of law, waste and general incompetency. Twenty-eight prisoners have become insane during the last 12 months. The testimony of trustworthy witnesses tends to show that cruel punishment deprived prisoners of their reason. The prison doctor is careless and unfeeling and he has repeatedly refused to attend upon women prisoners in confinement."

This commentary on Auburn prison startled Governor Sulzer as he read the report compiled by George W. Blake, special commissioner, designated under executive order to investigate the prisons of the state of New York.

Commissioner Blake recommends a grand jury investigation of the administration of the prison physician John T. Green of Auburn, whom he holds largely responsible for much of the brutality, including the punishment.

There is considerable mystery about the affair, as young Bennett denies having been in Miss Hennessy's home and declares he is being made a scapegoat. Miss Hennessy says she was alone when a man entered, seized her and thrust a razor in her mouth. She swooned and when she came to the intruder was cutting at her hair with a pair of shears. She screamed and fought him off. Then neighbors came in. She identified Bennett as her assailant when she confronted him in police headquarters.

Mysterious Note From Roosevelt Is Kept Secret

Legislature. Mr. Bryan, on his arrival here today, was met by Governor Johnson and taken to the executive mansion where his wishes in regard to a conference on the alien land legislation were learned by the governor.

President David Starr Jordan of Stanford university has been summoned by Mr. Bryan to meet him here for a conference on the alien land bill. Dr. Jordan is, on intimate terms with Japanese leaders and he probably knows better than any other Californian the sentiment of Japan toward this proposed legislation.

A story is going the rounds on the authority of one who was present at the conference that when the reply of Johnson to the dispatch of President Wilson was being discussed someone remarked that as the president had sent a very polite message it was up to Johnson to be equally polite in his reply, and not to come out flatfooted with a declaration of states' rights. Johnson is said to have remarked, "I'll tell Wilson," and to have turned to his secretary and ordered him to file the dispatch which was sent to Washington.

Roosevelt's Message.

There are several versions of the mysterious message sent by Colonel Roosevelt last week in Governor Johnson, and which the governor has refused to make public. One says that it cautioned Johnson not to pass any alien land bill until the Panama canal was fortified, as in case that Japan resented this action she would be able to destroy all the work that has been done at Panama.

Another version is that Mr. Roosevelt approved of the passage of an alien land bill at this time as it would compel congress to make liberal appropriations for a strong navy, which he declared this country needs now more than ever before. Whatever may be the real wording of this message, it will probably never be known, as Colonel Roosevelt has refused to divulge it.

"There is no occasion for the slightest delay," said Senator Thompson, one of the leading advocates of alien land legislation. Secretary Bryan undoubtedly understands our position thoroughly and we are prepared to listen to him. Further action in the case depends upon what he has to tell." It was stated by a number of administration leaders that the disposition to pass an alien land law restricted to aliens who are ineligible to citizenship remains unchanged. It would be necessary for Mr. Bryan to change the present views of the majority if the bill is to be killed.

Washington End of It.

Washington, April 28.—Not the slightest change in the attitude of Japan towards the threatened anti-alien land laws in California has taken place since Secretary Bryan left Washington. The Japanese protest against the proposed alien land laws was made to the United States government more than two weeks ago, and no other representations have been made by Ambassador Chinda since that time, according to Washington officials. State department officials denied emphatically also that any alarming messages were flashed either to the president or Secretary Bryan after Ambassador Chinda's latest visit to the state department.

SAYS RAILROADS WASTE REVENUES

W. S. Carter, Head of Firemen's Union, So Declares.

CAN GIVE MEN FAIR WAGE.

Bad Management and Watered Stock No Reason For Denying Men's Demands, Says President of B. of L. F. In Brief Filed With Arbitration Board in Wage Dispute.

New York.—Dissipation of revenue, incompetent and wasteful management and watered capitalization are charged against railroads by W. S. Carter, international president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen. In a brief filed with the arbitration board which heard the wage dispute between the firemen and the fifty four eastern roads.

The railroads frequently asserted at the hearings that to grant the firemen a 25 per cent annual increase in wages would be too great a financial burden to be borne by a number of the roads.

"All the railroads engaged in the present proceedings, when the actual amount of capital invested in roadbed, structures and equipment is considered, without reference to watered capitalization or financial investments, show sufficient operating revenue to cover all operating expenses, including a liberal advance in wages to firemen and all legitimate capital charges," said Mr. Carter. "If the construction of a railroad has been without economic justification or no profitable traffic is developed in the territory which it traverses or if it is constructed without regard to development traffic through an agreement with connecting roads, these facts are no ground for denying firemen the payment of proper wages.

"If the stocks and bonds of a railroad company have been properly issued for the purpose of granting bonuses to stockholders, to underwriters or promoters or acquiring the bonds and stocks of other transportation companies and industrial corporations at in-

Huge Specimen Of "Hen Fruit"

Mr. Wert Baughn, living north of town on the Prairie pike, Saturday exhibited a huge hen egg at the Herald office, the monster measuring 8 inches in circumference at the waist band, and 9 inches in circumference over the stem and stern.

Mr. Baughn is not sure whether the guilty party is a Rhode Island Red or a White Leghorn hen.

As the big shell fruit has a decided "shake" to it, it was handled with a great deal of care by the reporter who acted as official chain-bearer in making the measurements. The shell is somewhat too large for the contents.

ated values the necessity of paying dividends on such stocks or interest on such bonds cannot be urged as a reason against the grant of increased wages to locomotive firemen.

"The proceeds of the labor of the firemen and other railroad employees should not be used by diverting a part of the operating revenues each year into additions and betterments to give a market value to railroad securities which were originally worthless.

"These unprudent methods of increasing outstanding capitalization have not only rendered absurd that claim that all railroad stock and bonds should receive dividends, but they have imposed a heavy and grievous burden on the firemen and other labor engaged in conducting transportation and capital actually invested in the railroads, because they have caused large drains on operating revenue without making any contribution to the value or earning capacity of the railroad properties.

"Forty-four of the roads involved in these proceedings showed a combined net surplus of $256,288,831. With this enormous amount at their disposal it is evident that they are fully able to pay the increase in wages asked by the firemen, which, according to the roads themselves, would result in an annual charge amounting to less than a twenty-fifth of the total amount of surplus now held by the railroad companies opposed to this arbitration."

Of the deal whereby the Toledo, St. Louis and Western railroad—the Clover Leaf road—acquired control of the Chicago and Alton in 1901 Mr. Carter said:

"By the issue of new securities in the process of reorganization 57.23 per cent of the capitalization of the company was fictitious and represented no actual property or earning capacity. Dividends and fixed charges on this capitalization represented an unjustifiable burden on the labor and capital operating the railroad."

W. S. CARTER

ated values the necessity of paying dividends on such stocks or interest on such bonds cannot be urged as a reason against the grant of increased wages to locomotive firemen.

"The proceeds of the labor of the firemen and other railroad employees should not be used by diverting a part of the operating revenues each year into additions and betterments to give a market value to railroad securities which were originally worthless.

"These unpardonable methods of increasing outstanding capitalization have not only rendered absurd that claim that all railroad stock and bonds should receive dividends, but they have imposed a heavy and grievous burden on the firemen and other labor engaged in conducting transportation and capital actually invested in the railroads, because they have caused large drains on operating revenue without making any contribution to the value or earning capacity of the railroad properties.

"Forty-four of the roads involved in these proceedings showed a combined net surplus of $256,288,931. With this enormous amount at their disposal it is evident that they are fully able to pay the increase in wages asked by the firemen, which, according to the roads themselves, would result in an annual charge amounting to less than a twenty-fifth of the total amount of surplus now held by the railroad companies opposed to this arbitration."

Of the deal whereby the Toledo, St. Louis and Western railroad—the Clover Leaf road—acquired control of the Chicago and Alton in 1901 Mr. Carter said:

"By the issue of new securities in the process of reorganization 57.23 per cent of the capitalization of the company was fictitious and represented no actual property or earning capacity. Dividends and fixed charges on this capitalization represented an unjustifiable burden on the labor and capital operating the railroad."

Athletics Walk Off With Game

Two to fifteen is all that the Columbus Interurbans could do when they met the Athletics on the local diamond Sunday afternoon in a game of much interest.

In the opening innings it looked serious for the Athletics. Kletortz not permitting the Athletics to even get a look at first base until the fifth inning, when he went to pieces, and it was easy work for the Athletics from that time onward.

Notwithstanding the unseasonable weather the crowd was almost as large as the previous Sunday.

The umpire of Chas. Evans was unusually satisfactory to both teams and the crowd in general, and Evans is branded as A No. 1.

Next Sunday the Gen. City reserves, who went down to defeat at the hands of the Athletics in two successive games, will be here.

An yesterday's game the score was: Washington 0 0 0 0 7 0 3 0 0 12 Columbus 1 0 0 0 0 0 1 0 0 2

St. Louis Cardinals Nose Out the Luckless Cincinnati Reds.

St. Louis, Mo., April 28.—St. Louis took Sunday's game from Cincinnati, 2 to 1. Griner, the local pitcher, held Cincinnati to four scattered hits and but for Wingo's bad heaves would have shut out the visitors. Johnson pitched nice ball, but was wild at times. Park and taking his place in the seventh score.

Rockefeller Refused to Fly, But His Doctor Took a Chance

WEN John D. Rockefeller was invited to take a spin in the air he said in substance, "Let George do it." And that is all. In this case George was not Rockefeller's doctor, but he did do anything and everything, but no less a personage than the doctor's physician. That's how it happened that Dr. H. P. Hagerity, of the New York Hospital, took a chance on Rockefeller's health when he stepped. The picture shows the doctor taking a chance on Mr. Rockefeller's health. He came down safely and enthusiastically told his patient that he was all about it. "I haven't grown wings yet," he replied to the patient.

At Noon.

He rushed into an eating place With eager eye and open face. And there with wondrous art he threw Much food that open face into.

Three scrambled eggs, a piece of pie, Ice cream and coffee on the fly. Three doughnuts followed in a wink; Ice water—hurry up!—to drink.

Four faces off, entranced I stood, His aim, in truth, was very good; And not a drop or crumb I was Escaped that facial orifice.

With eager pride he flung them in, As if a medal bright to win, As men at target practice swell When lucky bullets ring the bell.

Away, away, the luncheon flew! Ten minutes wasted! Oh, mon Dieu! And through the door with nerves all tense He fairly sailed. Check, 30 cents.
